About Us

Founded in 2000, Johnson & Associates, Inc. is a full service Nationwide Security Management & Consultant firm. Our corporate headquarters are located in San Diego, CA with branch offices in Houston, TX, Los Angeles, CA, San Jose, CA, Ft. Lauderdale, FL, Phoenix, AZ, Chicago, IL and Washington, DC.

Johnson & Associates, Inc. is headed by special event security consultant Aaron Johnson, a pioneer in special event, hospitality and convention/meeting industries.

The company provides innovative event security management services, security plans & surveys, risk management, executive protection and various other security/emergency planning measures for red-carpet galas, conventions, meetings/trade shows, celebrity charity events, awards shows and other high profile or corporate special events. We also have a variety of security certification training courses to assist private security firms.

The company's philosophy was built on changing the way security services are provided and replacing the perception that is attached with security officers. We decided to focus on thoroughly training personnel with proper guest and customer service techniques. Then we took a 'second to none' policy on having highly presentable personnel with a sharp appearance. Finally, we fused all of that with updated security training measures that consist of a proactive approach, yet a low-key demeanor, which establishes a unique relationship with our client's guests.

Our goal is to continue to create revolutionary security plans and strategies for our customers in order to enhance their overall safety at events and conferences, protect proprietary information and streamline the amount of logistical participation event/meeting planners must get involved with in handling security management issues.

We have a passion to be creative, understand and listen to our client's needs, promote cost effective professional security services within any budget, provide feedback through candid post-event reports and surpass our client's expectations each and every time.

Conventions & Red-Carpet Galas

Preparing, planning and augmenting security is a critical area in which we assist our clientele for meeting, conventions, trade shows and major events.

Our professional security management helps provide a balance of customer's expectations, due diligence with locating a qualified vendor and ensuring the vendor is in compliance with their licensing and insurance.

We use a combination of in-house staff and network security companies throughout 65 cities. That way, licensed vendors can present their proposals to Johnson & Associates to examine so we can control your bottom line budget and let you focus on your event.

We have qualified individuals who can work as Badge Checkers, perform Equipment Watch, VIP Access Control, Project Managers, Executive Protection, Security Project Managers, Security Undercover Officers & many more positions to provide a wide range of security, risk and safety measures for major events.

Risk Analysis & Security Planning

Johnson & Associates will visit your site; review any existing plans to gather physical site security information, risk analysis, policies, training to aid planning; make thorough assessments and recommend security implementations.

In conjunction with local authorities and Homeland Security officials, we conduct security threats and vulnerability assessments or countermeasure upgrade recommendations. We will ascertain if in-house security, contract security or public law enforcement is the most effective service for your project. Part of the plan, in association with surveys, is to identify the problems early, reinforce strengths and ultimately evaluate if the security provider needs to increase or decrease staffing levels.

Using a combination of superior Guest Relations training and Observe and Report techniques, we can have a team of officers surpassing all of your expectations.
